

TEDxTokyo

x = independently organized TED event

TEDxTokyo Talk Schedule

SESSION 1
09:00–10:30

How Can We Organize Ourselves To Make A Difference?

HER IMPERIAL HIGHNESS PRINCESS TAKAMADO, opening remarks
TETSUYA KAIDA, Toyota Visionary, on 'elements, stillness, and movement'
TIA JOHNSTON BROWN, Director for Ashoka's Youth Venter, on 'an 'everyone a changemaker' society'
AMY MOYERS-KNOPP AND MIHO WALKER, Living Dreams Dream Makers, on 'empowering orphans'
MARK DYTHAM AND ASTRID KLEIN, Founders of KDa, on 'Pecha Kucha'
EDWARD SUZUKI, Principal at Edward Suzuki Architects, on 'GOeD Design'

SESSION 2
11:00–12:30

What Does It Mean To Be A Learner Today?

SHIN'ICHI TAKEMURA, Professor, Kyoto University of Art and Design, on 'global civilization'
MARCO TEMPEST, Techno-Illusionist, performing his 'augmented reality card trick'
ANTHONY WILLOUGHBY, Founder of I Will Not Complain, on 'territory mapping back to our roots'
DAVID ROCK, Founder of the Neuroleadership Institute, on 'learning about the brain changes everything'
BARRY EISLER, Author, on 'talking to your future self'

SESSION 3
02:00–03:30

How Can We Use Finite Resources To Propel Ourselves In The Future?

GUNTER PAULI, Founder of ZERI, on 'taking lessons from nature'
RENEE BYER, Photojournalist, on 'the story telling power of photography'
RICCO DEBLANK, General Manager of Ritz Carlton Tokyo, on 'how to create the perfect morning'
SHERRY STRONG, Food Philosopher, on 'eating and energy'
YUJI HIRAYAMA, World Record Holding Rock Climber, on 'getting maximum results from minimal tools'

SESSION 4
04:30–06:00

How Does Today Decide Tomorrow, From Local and Global Perspectives?

CHANDRAN NAIR, Founder of Global Institute for Tomorrow, on 'barriers to asking the right questions'
BILL WERLIN, General Manager, Japan at Burton Snowboards, on 'preserving the environment for tomorrow'
MARIO TOKORO, Founder of Sony Computer Science Labs, on 'Open Systems Science'
BILL HALL, President of Synovate Healthcare Japan, on 'Japan as a test-market for the aging society'
BRUCE Livingstone, Founder of iStockPhoto, demonstrating 'Animoto'